about:preferences#security

The image shows a browser address bar with the URL <https://www.propublica.org>. A notification bubble is displayed above the address bar, containing a purple icon and the text ".onion available". Below the notification bubble is a dialog box titled "Try This: Onion Services". The dialog box contains the following text: "Onion Services", "Website publishers can protect users by adding a transportation security layer. It prevents eyedroppers from knowing that is you who are visiting that website.", and a link "Learn More...". At the bottom of the dialog box are two buttons: "Not Now" and "Always prioritize Onions".
